Profile

Daniel Bloch specialises in domestic and cross-border litigation and arbitration, including attachments and injunctions, enforcement proceedings, and international judicial assistance. His extensive experience in international litigation goes along with special expertise in private international law, international civil procedure law, and international insolvency law.

Besides his litigation practice, Daniel Bloch advises private clients on a broad range of subjects including in particular private banking, inheritance, real estate and property law. Daniel Bloch joined Froriep as an associate in 1998 and became Of Counsel as of 2018. Before joining our firm he worked as an attorney in a mid-size commercial law firm in Zurich and in a trust & fiduciary services company in Zug. Prior to that, he was a law clerk at the Zurich District Court for Landlord and Tenant Matters.
